DIPLOMAS

Successful Bioceb's students obtain a triple degree (according to their study track), i.e. National Master's Degrees from Bioceb universities. The following degrees are awarded to the students at the end of the programme, depending on their study track.

Degrees awarded to all students:

- Master in Biology AgroSciences (BAS), delivered by the University of Reims Champagne-Ardenne (URCA);
- Bioceb Diploma, which is a French institution's diploma with the logos of the the Bioceb partner universities, delivered by AgroParisTech;
- Bioceb Diploma Supplement, which encapsulates the jointness of the programme, the mobility experience of each student as well as information on the qualifications obtained and a full transcript of all ECTS credits obtained during the Master course, delivered by AgroParisTech.

Degrees awarded depending on the student's study track (2 Degrees awarded out of the 4):

- Master in Integrative Biology and Physiology (IBP), study track Biomass Engineering for Bioeconomy (BEB), delivered by Université Paris-Saclay (UPSaclay), operated by AgroParisTech;
- Master of Science (Technology), delivered by Aalto University;
- Master of Science in Engineering, delivered by Tallinn University of Technology (TalTech);
- Master: Bioingénieur en chimie et bioindustries, à finalité (Master in Bioengineering: Chemistry and Bio-industries), delivered by University of Liège (ULiège).

It should be noted that on graduation day, students may not receive their official diplomas, but transcripts or certificates. Students will receive their official diplomas in the coming months, depending on each university's administrative and internal procedures.
